At its seventy-second session, under the item entitled “Review of the efficiency of the administrative and financial functioning of the United Nations”, the General Assembly approved the proposed change from a biennial to an annual budget period on a trial basis, beginning with the programme budget for 2020. The Assembly also decided that the proposed programme budget document would consist of three parts: (a) part I: the plan outline, which endorses the long-term priorities and the objectives of the Organization; (b) part II: the programme plan for programmes and subprogrammes and programme performance information; and (c) part III: the post and non-post resource requirements for the programmes and subprogrammes. It further decided that parts I and II would be submitted through the Committee for Programme and Coordination and part III through the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions for the consideration of the Assembly. The Assembly reiterated that the Committee for Programme and Coordination and the Advisory Committee should examine the proposed programme budget in accordance with their respective mandates and, preserving the sequential nature of the review processes, submit their conclusions and recommendations to the Assembly for the final approval of the programme budget, and requested the Secretary-General to assess the impact of the changes to the budgetary cycle on the work of the relevant subsidiary bodies of the Assembly (resolution 72/266 A).

At its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to engage with Member States and other relevant stakeholders, including programme managers and the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, when preparing the report on the review of the changes to the budgetary cycle, including on the sequence of budgetary procedures and practices. In addition, the Assembly reiterated that whenever the Committee for Programme and Coordination cannot provide conclusions and recommendations on a given subprogramme or programme of the proposed programme budget, the plenary or the relevant Main Committee or Main Committees of the Assembly responsible for those mandates will consider the said subprogramme or programme at the very start of its session in order to provide any conclusions and recommendations to the Fifth Committee, at the earliest opportunity, and no later than four weeks after the start of the session, for timely consideration by the Fifth Committee. The Assembly also requested the Secretary-General to identify possible measures to enhance and support more effective work of the Committee for Programme and Coordination, including in terms of the duration of its sessions and the capacity of the secretariat of the Fifth Committee and the Committee for Programme and Coordination, for the consideration of the Assembly, and decided that the sixty-second session of the Committee for Programme and Coordination shall be extended to five weeks (resolution 76/236).

143. Scale of assessments for the apportionment of the expenses of the United Nations

The regular budget of the United Nations is apportioned among its Member States in accordance with the scale of assessments approved by the General Assembly on the recommendation of the Committee on Contributions (see item 118 (b)). The scale of assessments has also been used to apportion the costs of the capital master plan. The scale, as modified by the provisions of resolutions 55/235 and 55/236 and other resolutions concerning the financing of peacekeeping operations, has also been used to apportion the cost of peacekeeping operations among Member States. The assessment rates used for the regular budget and peacekeeping operations have also been used for apportioning the costs of the International Criminal Tribunal for Rwanda, the International Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia and the International Residual Mechanism for Criminal Tribunals.

At its fifty-fourth session, in 1999, the Assembly decided that requests for exemption under Article 19 of the Charter must be submitted by Member States to the President of the Assembly at least two weeks before the session of the Committee on Contributions, so as to ensure a complete review of the requests (resolution 54/237 C).

At its fifty-seventh session, the Assembly endorsed the conclusions and recommendations of the Committee on Contributions concerning multi-year payment plans, as contained in paragraphs 17 to 23 of its report (A/57/11). Among those recommendations were that the Secretary-General should be requested to provide information on the submission of multi-year payment plans to the Assembly through the Committee and to submit an annual report to the Assembly through the Committee on the status of Member States' payment plans as at 31 December each year (resolution 57/4 B).

At its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly adopted a scale of assessments for the period from 2022 to 2024, based on the recommendations of the Committee on Contributions and using the same methodology applied to the preparation of the scale of assessments for the seven previous scale periods, and encouraged Member States to submit national accounts data under the 2008 System of National Accounts on a timely basis. The Assembly also requested the Committee, in accordance with its mandate and the rules of procedure of the Assembly, to review and make recommendations on the elements of the methodology of the scale of assessments in order to reflect the capacity of Member States to pay, and to report thereon to the Assembly by the main part of its seventy-ninth session (resolution 76/238).

At its seventy-first session, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to continue to modernize, streamline and integrate the Organization's human resources management structures and functions and present detailed proposals for the consideration of the Assembly at its seventy-third session; to intensify his efforts to develop a comprehensive and effective workforce- and succession-planning proposal and report thereon at the seventy-third session; to further intensify his efforts to ensure that a more refined performance management framework is implemented throughout the Organization; and to investigate the reasons for delays at each stage of the staff selection and recruitment processes and include in his next overview report a comprehensive strategy aimed at achieving the 120-day target for recruitment set by the Assembly. In addition, the Assembly expressed its serious concern about the slow pace of progress towards the goal of 50/50 gender balance in the United Nations system; urged the Secretary-General to ensure necessary cooperation among related departments and offices in the implementation of the new staff selection and managed mobility system and requested him to provide detailed information on his proposal to include vacant positions at B, C, D and E duty stations in the managed mobility system in his next progress report; and requested him to present to the Assembly, no later than at its seventy-third session, proposals for a comprehensive review of the system of desirable ranges, including by retaining or widening the current base number of Professional posts, with a view to establishing a more effective tool for ensuring equitable geographical distribution within the Secretariat in relation to all posts financed through the regular budget (resolution 71/263).

At its seventy-fifth session, the Assembly, having considered the report of the Secretary-General on seconded active-duty military and police personnel and the related report of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions, requested him to continue to actively engage in the efforts to improve the timely onboarding of such personnel, using the various tools at his disposal to address challenges beyond the control of the selected active-duty military and police personnel and which prevent their timely onboarding and to report thereon in his next report; requested him to carry out a comprehensive assessment of the practical impact, including on Member States, of the different options and possible combinations of options outlined in his report, taking into consideration lessons learned from the implementation of existing agreements and the need to secure continuous protection of the pension rights of the seconded personnel, and to provide the assessment to the Assembly for its consideration at its seventy-eighth session; authorized him to continue to enter into agreements with Member States to prevent duplication in the payment of salaries, benefits and allowances to active-duty seconded military and police personnel and to report thereon, including on the lessons learned, in the context of his next report to the Assembly; and requested him to provide, during the first part of the resumed seventy-seventh session, an informal briefing on the status of and the initial findings from the implementation of bilateral agreements and progress in the preparation of the analysis and assessment of options and combinations of options to be outlined in his report (resolution 75/292).

At its seventy-sixth session, under the item entitled "Financial reports and audited financial statements, and reports of the Board of Auditors", the Assembly recalled paragraph 22 of the report of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions on the report of the Board of Auditors on the accounts of the United Nations peacekeeping operations and report of the Secretary-General on the implementation of the recommendations of the Board of Auditors concerning the United Nations peacekeeping operations for the financial period ended 30 June 2021 (A/76/735 and A/76/735/Corr.1), and requested the Secretary-General to promulgate a human resources downsizing policy for drawdown and liquidation (resolution 76/235 B).

At the same session, under the item entitled “Administrative and budgetary aspects of the financing of the United Nations peacekeeping operations”, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to continue his ongoing efforts to ensure the attainment of equitable geographical distribution in the Secretariat and to ensure as wide a geographical distribution of staff as possible in all departments and offices and at all levels, including at the Director and higher levels, of the Secretariat, and requested him to report thereon in his next overview report (resolution 76/274).

At its twenty-first session, in 1966, the General Assembly established the Joint Inspection Unit for an initial period of four years (resolution 2150 \(XXI\)), and subsequently decided to continue the Unit until 31 December 1973 (resolution 2735 A \(XXV\)) and then for a further period of four years beyond that date (resolution 2924 B \(XXVII\)). At its thirty-first session, the Assembly approved the statute of the Unit as a subsidiary organ of the Assembly and of the legislative bodies of the specialized agencies that accepted the new statute (resolution 31/192). The membership of the Unit was increased from 8 to not more than 11 Inspectors, with effect from 1 January 1978.

The Assembly continued to reaffirm the statute of the Unit and its unique and independent system-wide role in the areas of inspection, evaluation and investigation at various sessions from its forty-eighth to seventy-fifth sessions (resolutions 48/221, 50/233, 54/16, 60/258, 61/238, 61/260, 62/226, 62/246, 63/272, 64/262, 65/270, 66/259, 67/256, 68/266, 69/275, 70/257, 71/281, 72/269, 73/287, 74/253, 75/270, 76/261 and 76/273).

At its fiftieth session, in June 1996, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General, and invited the executive heads of organizations participating in the Unit, to take the necessary measures to ensure that the thematic reports of the Unit were listed under the appropriate substantive agenda items of the work programmes of the Assembly, other pertinent organs and bodies of the United Nations and the appropriate legislative organs of the other participating organizations (resolution 50/233).

At its fifty-fourth session, the Assembly endorsed the follow-up system annexed to the Unit's report (A/52/34) and invited the Unit to include in its annual reports approved recommendations that had not been implemented (resolution 54/16).

At its fifty-fifth session, the Assembly decided to consider the annual reports of the Unit on an annual basis (resolution 55/230).

At its fifty-ninth session, the Assembly decided that the Unit should include in its annual reports information on implementation and the results achieved by organizations in respect of their follow-up to the recommendations of the Unit, as endorsed by their legislative bodies, and the arrangements put in place by participating organizations for reporting thereon (resolution 59/267).

At its sixty-first session, the Assembly requested that reports of the Unit include information on savings, acceptance rate of recommendations and implementation status by impact category (resolution 61/238, sect. I). At the same session, the Assembly decided to consider jointly the annual report and programme of work of the Unit, starting from the sixty-second session (resolution 61/260).

At its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly invited the legislative bodies of participating organizations to effectively use the reports of the Unit, and to give timely and due consideration to its recommendations, in accordance with article 11, paragraph 4, of the statute of the Unit, and requested the Secretary-General, as Chair of the United Nations System Chief Executives Board for Coordination, to invite participating organizations within the United Nations system to regularly review the status of acceptance and implementation of the recommendations of the Unit, especially those related to system-wide coordination and coherence, and to consider reporting explanations for non-acceptance and non-implementation to the Unit (resolution 76/261).

At the same session, the Assembly welcomed the implementation of the strategic framework for the period 2020–2029 of the Joint Inspection Unit, stressed the need to continuously update and improve the strategic framework, taking into account the dynamics and challenges, including those related to the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) pandemic and ongoing reform efforts, and requested the Unit to report on its outreach strategy to familiarize the leadership of participating organizations with the strategic framework and to exchange information on the work of participating organizations in supporting the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development as well as emerging challenges (resolution 76/261).

Also at the same session, the Assembly requested the Unit to provide the Secretariat with its reports in a timely manner in order to ensure their simultaneous translation in all the official languages of the United Nations, well in advance of meetings of the legislative organs of participating organizations so that the reports could be thoroughly and effectively utilized in their deliberations (resolution 76/261).

Also at its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly reiterated its request to the executive heads of the participating organizations to fully comply with the statutory procedures for consideration of the reports of the Unit and, in particular, to submit their comments, including information on what they intended to do regarding the recommendations of the Unit, to distribute reports in time for their consideration by legislative organs and to provide information on the steps to be taken to implement those recommendations accepted by the legislative organs and the executive heads of participating organizations, and reiterated its request to the Secretary-General and the other executive heads of the participating organizations to fully assist the Unit with the timely provision of all information requested by it (resolution 76/261).

At the same session, the Assembly welcomed the coordination of the Unit with the Board of Auditors and the Office of Internal Oversight Services of the Secretariat; and encouraged those bodies to continue to share experiences, knowledge, best practices and lessons learned with a view to avoiding overlap or duplication and achieving further synergy, cooperation, effectiveness and efficiency, without prejudice to their respective mandates (resolution 76/261).

Also at the same session, the Assembly commended the Unit on conducting an internal self-assessment of its work and operations and requested a relevant update in the context of the next annual report of the Unit. 146. United Nations common system

The General Assembly, by its resolution 3042 \(XXVII\), decided in principle to establish an international civil service commission for the regulation and coordination of the conditions of service of the United Nations common system. By its resolution 3357 \(XXIX\), the Assembly approved the statute of the International Civil Service Commission. The United Nations common system comprises 17 organizations that have accepted the Commission's statute and, together with the United Nations itself and its funds and programmes, participate in the United Nations common system of salaries and allowances. Other organizations have not formally accepted the statute but fully participate in the Commission's work or apply the common system of salaries, allowances and benefits. Under its statute, the Commission is required to submit an annual report to the Assembly, which is also to be transmitted to the governing organs of the other organizations of the common system, through their executive heads.

At its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly reaffirmed its role in approving conditions of service and entitlements for all staff serving in the organizations of the United Nations common system, bearing in mind articles 10 and 11 of the statute of the Commission, and stressed the independence and impartiality of the Commission in accordance with its statute. It further reaffirmed the authority of the Commission to continue to establish post adjustment multipliers for duty stations in the United Nations common system, under article 11 (c) of the statute of the Commission. With reference to the post adjustment system, the Assembly underlined the importance of the effective and efficient implementation of the new cost-of-living surveys to re-establish a unified common system and stressed the need for regular surveys with changes based firmly on reliable data, including verified external data, and in that regard requested that the Commission complete the current round of surveys as scheduled. Recalling paragraph 6 of its resolution 74/255 B, the Assembly expressed concern at the continued application of two concurrent post adjustment multipliers in the United Nations common system at the Geneva duty station, and in that regard urged the member organizations of the United Nations common system to cooperate fully with the Commission in line with its statute and to apply a single multiplier per duty station after the completion of the cost-of-living surveys in 2022 and requested that the Commission conduct a study on the feasibility and impact of establishing a separate post adjustment index and General Service salaries for Bern (resolution 76/240).

At the same session, recalling its resolution 75/245 B, the Assembly requested that the Secretary-General, upon consultation with the Commission, to review legal expertise available to the Commission and to report thereon at its seventy-seventh session. The Assembly indicated that it looked forward to receiving the review of the jurisdictional set-up of the common system at its seventy-seventh session, as requested in paragraph 8 of its resolution 74/255 B and in paragraphs 8 and 9 of its resolution 75/245 B, and invited the Sixth Committee to consider the legal aspects of the report to be submitted by the Secretary-General, without prejudice to the role of the Fifth Committee as the Main Committee entrusted with responsibilities for administrative and budgetary matters (resolution 76/240).

Also at the same session, recalling paragraph 57 of section III of its resolution 70/244 and underlining the importance for it to maintain a comprehensive oversight of the common system compensation package and consider its components in a holistic manner, the Assembly invited the Commission to undertake a comprehensive assessment and review of the compensation package for the United Nations common system on a five-year cycle, taking into due consideration the previously agreed objectives of the exercise, as well as the context both in Member States and the United Nations common system. In that regard, it requested that the Commission present for the consideration of the Assembly at its eighty-first session that comprehensive assessment and review of the compensation system, including a detailed analysis of its cost-effectiveness, attractiveness and impact on the workforce and proposals for updating parameters and comparators. The Assembly also requested that the Secretary-General provide to Member States, on an annual basis starting at the seventy-eighth session, comprehensive data on system-wide compensation costs for all staff categories, including all compensation package components, and in that regard acknowledged the importance of timely submission by the United Nations common system organizations to the Commission of necessary information in order to ensure that the decisions and recommendations of the Commission would be based on updated and reliable data. It further requested the Secretary-General, in his capacity as Chair of the United Nations Chief Executive Board for Coordination, to intensify his efforts in that regard. The Assembly requested that the Commission analyse the possibility of using external data for staff expenditure surveys and other pertinent items in the next round of cost-of-living surveys, taking stock of the relevant exercise in the 2022 round, and to report thereon to the Assembly at its seventy-eighth session, and that it conduct a pilot application of external data for salary surveys, taking into account the opinions of all the parties concerned (resolution 76/240).

Also at its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly noted the lack of formal guidelines for geographical distribution in 19 member organizations and the high average age of staff members in the United Nations common system and encouraged the Commission to identify good practices and provide advice to common system organizations on ways to promote geographical diversity and rejuvenation, noting the Commission's request to establish clear indicators to track progress in that regard. The Assembly requested the Secretary-General, in his capacity as Chair of the United Nations System Chief Executives Board for Coordination, to review job classification practices across the United Nations common system and to propose recommendations for ensuring adherence to and consistent application of the classification standards of the Commission. It invited the Commission to include the issue of multilingualism of the workforce in its programme of work for 2022–2023 and noted that the Commission would consider the standards of accommodation for air travel and report thereon to the Assembly at its seventy-seventh session. It requested the Commission to review the scope and parameters of the non-family service allowance, in particular the eligibility of staff without dependants, and to report thereon to the Assembly at its seventy-eighth session (resolution 76/240).

Also at the same session, the Assembly approved, with effect from 1 January 2022, the revised unified base/floor salary scale and updated pay protection points for staff in the Professional and higher categories and requested the Commission to report to the Assembly at its seventy-seventh session on the impact of such revision on the expenditures on post resources for 2022, including separation payments, post adjustment payments and pension contributions from member organizations. With respect to the education grant, the Assembly decided, for implementation as from the academic year in progress on 1 January 2022, to maintain the reimbursement rates of the seven brackets and adjust the revised sliding reimbursement scale upward by 14 per cent on the basis of the scale approved by the Assembly in its resolution 70/244, and to increase the boarding lump sum to the amount of $5,300, and requested that the Commission consider providing a review of the education grant scheme, including detailed analysis of the methodology of the sliding reimbursement scale and the level of boarding lump sum. Regarding the payment of amount in lieu of settling-in grant at category E duty stations that are not designated as non-family, the Assembly recalled section III of its resolution 73/273 and decided to continue the pilot project of granting $15,000 on an annual basis for staff members who opt not to install eligible dependents in category E duty stations not designated as non-family, and to grant, on a pilot basis, $14,000 on an annual basis for eligible staff members in category D duty stations not designated as non-family until 31 December 2024, on the understanding that the payment would be granted only to the eligible staff members when they physically reported to their normal duty stations. The Assembly requested that the Commission submit to the Assembly at its seventy-ninth session a recommendation on this payment, based on a thorough review of the impact thereof, including on workforce planning, in different categories of duty stations, including non-family duty stations, and the actual cost to the organizations (resolution 76/240).

Article 17, paragraph 3, of the Charter of the United Nations provides that the General Assembly shall examine the administrative budgets of the specialized agencies referred to in Article 57 with a view to making recommendations to the agencies concerned. General Assembly resolution 14 \(I\) provides that one of the functions of the Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions is to examine on behalf of the Assembly the administrative budgets of the specialized agencies and proposals for financial arrangements with such agencies. This provision is repeated in rule 157 of the rules of procedure of the Assembly. At its forty-seventh session, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to submit the next statistical report by the Administrative Committee on Coordination to the Assembly at its forty-ninth session and thereafter every second year, and to add to the material covered therein information on assessed and voluntary contributions paid by Member States and non-Member States in each of the two prior calendar years (decision 47/449).

At its forty-eighth session, the General Assembly, under the item entitled "Review of the efficiency of the administrative and financial functioning of the United Nations", decided to establish an Office of Internal Oversight Services (OIOS) under the authority of the Secretary-General, the head of which would be at the rank of Under-Secretary-General. It also decided that OIOS would assume the functions prescribed for the Office for Inspections and Investigations in the note by the Secretary-General (A/48/640), as amended by the resolution, according to which the reporting to the Assembly would be in the form of an annual report prepared by OIOS on its work and submitted to the Assembly by the Secretary-General; and further decided to include in the provisional agenda of its fiftieth session an item entitled “Report of the Secretary-General on the activities of the Office of Internal Oversight Services” (resolution 48/218 B).

The Assembly had the item on its agenda at its fiftieth to sixtieth sessions (resolutions 50/239, 55/259, 56/246, 57/287 A to C and 60/259).

At its sixtieth session, the Assembly, under the item entitled “Report of the Secretary-General on the activities of the Office of Internal Oversight Services”, decided to modify the title of the item to read “Report on the activities of the Office of Internal Oversight Services”, in accordance with paragraph 3 of resolution 59/272 (resolution 60/259).

At its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly requested the Secretary-General to ensure that the annual reports of the Office continue to include a brief description of any impairment of its independence; and to ensure that all relevant resolutions, including those of a cross-cutting nature, are brought to the attention of relevant managers and that the Office takes those resolutions into account in the conduct of its activities (resolution 76/241).

150. Administration of justice at the United Nations

The General Assembly had this item on its agenda at its fifty-fifth to fifty-ninth and annually since its sixty-first session (resolutions 55/258, 57/307, 59/283, 61/261, 62/228, 63/253, 64/119, 64/233, 65/251, 66/237, 67/241, 68/254, 69/203, 70/112, 71/266, 72/256, 73/276, 74/258, 75/248 and 76/242 and decisions 56/458 C, 58/576, 61/503 A, 63/531, 64/527, 64/553 and 65/213).

At its sixty-second session, the Assembly established: (a) a two-tier formal system of administration of justice, comprising a first instance United Nations Dispute Tribunal and an appellate instance United Nations Appeals Tribunal; (b) the Office of Administration of Justice, comprising the Office of the Executive Director and the Office of Staff Legal Assistance, as well as the Registries for the United Nations Dispute Tribunal and the United Nations Appeals Tribunal, the Registries to be overseen by the Principal Registrar; (c) a single integrated and decentralized Office of the Ombudsman for the United Nations Secretariat, funds and programmes with branches in several duty stations and a new mediation division; (d) the Internal Justice Council; and (e) the Management Evaluation Unit in the Office of the Under-Secretary-General for Management (resolution 62/228).

At its sixty-third session, the Assembly adopted the statutes of the United Nations Dispute Tribunal and the United Nations Appeals Tribunal and decided that the Tribunals would be operational as of 1 July 2009 and that all persons who had access to the Office of the Ombudsman under the previous system would also have access to the new informal system (resolution 63/253). The statutes have been amended at subsequent sessions (resolutions 66/237, 69/203, 70/112, 71/266 and 73/276).

Consideration of the item in the Fifth Committee

At its seventy-sixth session, the Assembly acknowledged the evolving nature of the system of administration of justice and the need to carefully monitor its implementation to ensure that it remains within the parameters set out by the Assembly. It commended the Secretary-General for ensuring the availability of outreach documents in all six official languages and requested the Secretary-General to continue to take measures to implement multilingualism within the system of administration of justice and to report on his efforts to continue to promote multilingualism in the system of administration of justice in his next reports. The Assembly also requested the Secretary-General to continue to ensure a strong culture of accountability throughout the Secretariat, to ensure access to effective remedies for all categories of personnel, to continue to hold managers accountable when their decisions have been established to be grossly negligent according to the applicable Staff Regulations and Rules of the United Nations and have led to litigation and subsequent financial loss, and to report thereon to the Assembly at its seventy-seventh session. It reiterated that retaliation against complainants or staff appearing as witnesses constitutes misconduct, noted with appreciation the policy on protection against retaliation for reporting misconduct and for cooperating with duly authorized audits or investigations as well as the efforts to continuously improve the framework for protection from retaliation, and in that regard requested the Secretary-General to provide information on the implementation of the policy for all categories of personnel covered in his next report (resolution 76/242, sect. I).

At the same session, with regard to the informal system, the Assembly reaffirmed the importance of the informal dispute resolution process in the Organization, which represents an efficient and effective option both for staff who seek redress of grievances and for the participation of managers, and that the informal resolution of conflict is a crucial element of the system of administration of justice, emphasized that all possible use should be made of the informal system in order to avoid unnecessary litigation, without prejudice to the basic right of staff members to access the formal system, and encouraged recourse to the informal resolution of disputes. The Assembly noted the efforts of the Secretary-General to promote knowledge and awareness of and action on racism within the Organization, and reiterated its request to the Secretary-General to include information on racism and cases involving racial discrimination in the context of his next report on the activities of the Office of the United Nations Ombudsman and Mediation Services (resolution 76/242, sect. II).

Also at the same session, with regard to the formal system, the Assembly, recalling paragraph 27 of its resolution 75/248, expressed its appreciation for the efforts of the Dispute Tribunal and the Office of Administration of Justice to develop and implement the case disposal plan, and welcomed the launch of the real-time case-tracking dashboard. It noted with concern the impact of dual employment of the full-time judges on the prompt and efficient performance of their judicial duties, and urged the full-time judges of the Dispute Tribunal not to hold any other employment so as to ensure the credibility and efficiency of the internal justice system. The Assembly requested the Secretary-General to continue to track the data on the number of cases received by the Management Evaluation Unit and the Dispute Tribunal in order to identify any emerging trends, and to report thereon in the context of his next report. The Assembly also requested the Secretary-General, in consultation with the Dispute Tribunal and the Appeals Tribunal, to include in his next report his views regarding the recommendation of the Internal Justice Council for the appointment of a president for a term of seven years. With regard to the Office of Staff Legal Assistance, the Assembly recognized its ongoing positive contribution to the system of administration of justice, noted the continuing high opt-out rates from the voluntary staff funding mechanism, and encouraged the Secretary-General to intensify his efforts to strengthen incentives for staff not to opt out, particularly in locations and United Nations entities where the participation rate was low, and to report on measures taken in that regard in the context of his next report (resolution 76/242, sect. III).

Also at its seventy-sixth session, in line with the review and amendment by the Dispute Tribunal and Appeals Tribunal of their respective rules of procedure, with a view to streamlining and harmonizing their approach to case management, including by ensuring that the first judicial action in a case is taken no later than 90 days from the date on which an application is filed, as urged by the Assembly in its resolution 74/258 (sect. III), the Assembly approved the proposed amendments to articles 8.2 (a) and 9.2 (a) and to articles 24, 25, 26 and 27 of the rules of procedure of the Appeals Tribunal, as adopted by the Appeals Tribunal on 24 October 2019 and 19 October 2020, respectively. The Assembly invited the Sixth Committee to consider the legal aspects of the report to be submitted by the Secretary-General, without prejudice to the role of the Fifth Committee as the Main Committee entrusted with responsibilities for administrative and budgetary matters (resolution 76/242, sect. IV).

Consideration of the item in the Sixth Committee

At the seventy-sixth session, as set out in a letter from the Chair of the Sixth Committee (see A/C.5/76/19, annex), the Sixth Committee considered the legal aspects of the reports of the Secretary-General and of the Internal Justice Council on the administration of justice at the United Nations and the report of the Secretary-General on the activities of the Office of the United Nations Ombudsman and Mediation Services. 156. Financing of the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus

By its resolution 186 \(1964\), the Security Council recommended the creation of a United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP) and that the Force be stationed for three months, with a mandate to use its best efforts to prevent a recurrence of fighting and, as necessary, to contribute to the maintenance and restoration of law and order and a return to normal conditions.
