In making its final recommendations, the committee shall endeavour to ensure diversity in regard to the functions, levels, locations, nationalities and gender of the endorsed candidates as well as the subject matter of the studies.

4.6. The selected staff member shall be informed of the decision and shall be requested to accept in writing the terms and conditions specified below.

Section 5

Terms and conditions of sabbatical leave

5.1 The sabbatical leave shall be taken during the calendar year following the year in which the application was submitted. Under exceptional circumstances, such as exigencies of service or illness, the Office of Human Resources Management may authorize the deferral of sabbatical leave to the following year.

5.2 The staff member shall be placed on special leave with full pay for the sabbatical leave period. Staff members on sabbatical leave shall continue to receive salary, post adjustment and all related entitlements, such as rental subsidy and education grant, applicable to their regular duty station. The provisions of appendix D of the United Nations Staff Rules shall cover initial and return travel, as well as activities directly related to the course of study.

5.3 Should the staff member request additional time to complete the study, leave without pay may be granted on an exceptional basis, provided that annual leave has been exhausted, subject to exigencies of service and contingent on the approval of the head of department or office.

5.4 While on special leave with full pay, staff members shall continue to accrue service credits towards sick, annual and home leave, salary increments, seniority, termination indemnity and repatriation grant. If the sabbatical leave continues after four months, on special leave without pay, no credits shall accrue during that period. In accordance with the provisions of the current administrative instruction on the special post allowance, staff members shall not receive a special post allowance while on sabbatical leave.

5.5 The United Nations shall pay for the cost of one round-trip travel for the staff member to the place of study and/or research and for the cost of unaccompanied shipment by air of 50 kilograms (110 pounds) each way. The staff member shall be responsible for the cost of any other travel for himself or herself and for any dependants, as well as for the cost of books, educational materials, fees for attendance or participation in conferences, courses or other meetings and activities.

5.6 A stipend to cover partial living expenses, in an amount to be determined yearly by the Office of Human Resources Management, shall be paid to staff members during the period of special leave with full pay, provided that the place of study and/or research is beyond commuting distance from the staff member's duty station and that he/she has actually rented accommodation in the area near the place of study and/or research.

5.7 Within six months of completion of their sabbatical leave, staff members shall submit to their head of department or office a report on the study and/or research they have undertaken. The head of department or office shall forward a copy of the report to the Assistant Secretary-General for Human Resources Management. The report may be shared within the Organization by the Office of Human Resources Management as deemed appropriate. To assess the impact of the sabbatical leave programme, in the year after the completion of the programme, the Office of Human Resources Management shall require staff members and their supervisors to complete a follow-up questionnaire to determine the benefits of the programme for the department concerned and for the staff member.

5.8 In the case of separation initiated by the staff member prior to the completion of two years of service upon return from sabbatical leave, the payment made by the Organization under sections 5.5 and 5.6 above may be recovered.
