“The Malvinas Islands were registered by the United Kingdom as a Non-Self-Governing Territory. This registration is a consequence of the illegal British occupation of the Argentine territory that occurred in 1833.

“The United Nations has, on many occasions, indicated that the colonial dispute existing between Argentina and the United Kingdom concerning these territories should be resolved through peaceful negotiations.

“Without prejudice to this and since the islands form part of the national Argentine territory, its inhabitants enjoy — just like the rest of the Argentine population — the benefits of the National Scholarship Programme offered by the Ministry of Education of the Argentine Republic.”

The Trinidad and Tobago Commonwealth Programme will provide opportunities for students of other Commonwealth countries to pursue advanced programmes at the University of the West Indies, St. Augustine, Trinidad.

Eligibility

18. Scholarships are open equally to men and women who are citizens of another Commonwealth country and who are normally resident in any part of the Commonwealth other than Trinidad and Tobago. Candidates must possess a Bachelor's degree or its equivalent, with at least lower second class honours from a recognized university, for studies leading to the Master's degree and a Master's degree for studies leading to the Ph.D. degree. There is no age restriction. However, preference will be given to candidates who have obtained a university degree within the past five years. The duration of awards will be as follows:

21. Reasonable hotel charges, as agreed upon by the Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago, for a period of one (1) week after arrival in Trinidad to permit the scholar to find suitable accommodation. As no dependent allowance is payable, it is essential that scholars who plan to bring their family to Trinidad and Tobago have sufficient financial resources for their support. If these resources are not available, serious consideration should be given to leaving the family at home. The Government of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago will not be responsible for meeting the cost of airfare for the scholar's spouse and children, who must have return tickets to their homeland valid for the duration of their stay in the country. The above allowances are not subject to tax in the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago.

General conditions of awards

22. All scholars must return to their own country at the end of their scholarship. All scholars must follow the approved course of study and abide by the rules of the University of the West Indies. An award may be terminated at any time for reasons of unsatisfactory conduct, for a breach of the conditions of awards or for failure to make satisfactory progress. Scholars will not normally be permitted to take up paid employment during the course of their awards. Scholars will be expected to reside in Trinidad and Tobago throughout the duration of their awards and to seek prior approval for any proposed visits abroad.

General information

23. The grant of an award is conditional upon the scholar gaining admission to the relevant programme of study at the University of the West Indies. Once selected for an award, scholars will be required to submit application forms for admission to the University of the West Indies directly to that institution. All applicants whose native language is not English would be required to perform satisfactorily in an English proficiency test set by the University of the West Indies. Arrangements would be made for the test to be administered at a recognized university nearest to the candidates.

Applications

24. All applicants must submit six (6) copies of the application on the prescribed form together with six (6) copies of all supporting documents, except the birth certificate, of which only one (1) copy is required.
