Special, 2006

Introduction

The Associazione Comunità Papa Giovanni XXIII is an international lay association of pontifical right, which is present in 29 countries on 5 continents. The Association has expanded its presence in Argentina, Burundi, France, Germany, Haiti and Portugal.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The Association aims to help its members to realize their Christian values trying to do the will of God throughout their life. The members experience life directly with the poor and disadvantaged and are committed to removing the root causes of poverty and exclusion and to representing the poor by actions. The Association runs hundreds of family homes and welcoming centres for marginalized people all over the world. It also runs cooperatives and day centres, therapeutic communities for drug users and centres for alcoholics, among others. Furthermore, it assists people displaced by war and carries out activities aimed at combating human trafficking.

Significant changes in the organization

During the reporting period, the only changes that have taken place in the Association are:

- (a) An increase in the number of associated members to 1,827;
- (b) Expansion of its areas of activity to include Argentina, Burundi, France, Germany, Haiti and Portugal. The presence of the Association in the territory of Kosovo has ended.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

The Association submitted written statements to numerous sessions of the Human Rights Council during the reporting period and organized or co-sponsored a number of parallel events at those sessions on issues such as the right to health for HIV-positive children, international solidarity and human rights, the right to development and the Millennium Development goals. It also made oral statements at sessions of the Human Rights Council, including on the universal periodic reviews of Albania, Chile, Romania and Zambia.

The Association also took part in meetings of the Social Forum in 2011 and 2012, including serving as a panellist and giving a presentation on its experiences with participatory development in Zambia. It submitted written statements to the days of general discussion held by the Committee on the Rights of the Child during its fifty-eighth and fifty-ninth sessions, on the issues of the children of incarcerated parents and of the rights of all children in the context of international migration, respectively. The Association submitted a written statement on the right to education and the most vulnerable children to the high-level segment of the Economic and Social Council in July 2011.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

The Association contributed to the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals in Africa, Asia, Europe and South America. Major actions were as follows:

Goal 1: Eradicate extreme poverty and hunger

- Material and financial support provided to 24,449 persons and 402 families living under the poverty line in Kenya, the United Republic of Tanzania and Zambia
- A total of 1,367 families (especially women) empowered through microfinance to start small-scale businesses during the reporting period
- A total of 6,931 malnourished children treated and rescued from malnutrition in nutritional centres
- A total of 28,348 children fed in schools during the reporting period
- 14,214 persons fed through the “A meal per day” initiative
- About 25,792 children and 1,779 adults supported in public and community schools

Goal 6: Combat HIV/AIDS, malaria and other diseases

- Provision of general medical care to 57,246 adults and children

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

During the reporting period, the Association took part in numerous events at the United Nations, such as regular and special sessions of the Human Rights Council, sessions of the universal periodic review, the high-level segment and annual ministerial review of the Economic and Social Council, the high-level meeting of the General Assembly on HIV/AIDS in 2011, the High-level Plenary Meeting of the General Assembly on the Millennium Development Goals in 2010, meetings of the Programme Coordinating Board of the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS), the Committee on the Rights of the Child, the Social Forum and the open-ended working group on the right to development, the day of general discussion of the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights and meetings with non-governmental organizations (NGOs) organized by the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner on Human Rights (OHCHR) and the President of the Human Rights Council. Furthermore, the Association has sent several contributions, including those to OHCHR for consultation on a study on children’s right to health, to general comment No. 15 (2013) of the Committee on the Rights of the Child on the right of the child to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of health, to the Special Rapporteur on the human rights of migrants on the occasion of his visit to Greece (25 November to 3 December 2012) and to the Special Rapporteur on trafficking in persons, especially women and children on the occasion of her visit to Italy (12 to 20 September 2013).

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

Since 2010, the Association has participated on a regular basis as an observer in meetings of the UNAIDS Programme Coordinating Board. It also sent a written contribution to the draft UNAIDS strategy for the period 2011-2015.

Additional information

Operation Dove, the non-violent peace corps of the Association continues its presence in the area of the south Hebron hills on the West Bank. The Association took part in the open-ended working group on the right to development. On behalf of a coalition of Catholic NGOs, it submitted three joint contributions on the criteria and operational subcriteria for the implementation of the right to development. The Association is committed to mainstreaming human rights, including the right to development, as a contribution of civil society to the global debate for the post-2015 development agenda. Finally, in its actions to promote and defend human rights and for the capacity-building of its members, it has organized two online training courses in cooperation with the Centre for Human Rights in Padua, Italy. The courses dealt with human rights and the United Nations system and the rights of the child.

2. Ayande Roshan Nokhbegan FoundationSpecial, 2010*Introduction

The Ayande Roshan Nokhbegan Foundation was founded in the Islamic Republic of Iran in 2000. It provides financial, moral and educational support to underprivileged students who study at technical and vocational training schools and State universities in the country. Its main goal is to provide students with skills and empower them through educational and training programmes.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The main aim of the Foundation is capacity-building, which is achieved by the distribution of educational bursaries and mental health promotion programmes. Students supported by the Foundation are carefully selected from deprived social classes. The goal of the Foundation is to raise qualified citizens, whose endeavours and achievements will serve as a guiding model for other youngsters in the country.

Significant changes in the organization

There have been no significant changes.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

No participation was specified.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

In line with Millennium Development Goal 1, the Foundation empowers young men and women by providing secondary and university education and life skills training. Many students move on into employment and some have set up small businesses. Regarding Millennium Development Goal 3, promotion of female education is a key issue. Of the total of 494 students supported by the Foundation over the last four years, the number of girls has been 329, or 67 per cent.

Regarding Millennium Development Goal 6, students acquire sex education and learn about safe sex and HIV/AIDS prevention among other things. Regarding Millennium Development Goal 7, the Foundation regularly invites speakers to educate students about responsibility towards the environment. Initiatives include waste sorting and dropping off recyclable waste at designated points. Planting and clearing waste in the mountains are other regular activities. The Foundation has also provided its students with a total of 100 computers, PCs and laptops, new and used. Internet connection has also been provided to students through cash stipends.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

In the area of entrepreneurship development, the Foundation has offered technical and vocational training and has promoted an entrepreneurial culture. Students are encouraged to set up their own businesses instead of opting for public sector jobs. In the last few years, 18 boys and girls supported by the Foundation have set up small businesses in fields such as architectural services, glass cutting, mobile phone repair, home appliances repair and hair and beauty services. Another area of focus is workplace health and safety training. The youth are advised to use the necessary health and safety equipment, such as uniforms, gloves, masks and protective goggles at work, where required.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

The Foundation has a working relationship with the Kousha Organization, which supports child labourers in the Islamic Republic of Iran and cooperates with the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF). Working children get training and educational support from the Foundation and its active youth.

5. Bangladesh NGOs Network for Radio and Communication

Special, 2010

Introduction

Bangladesh NGOs Network for Radio and Communication represents the community media sector to Government, industry, regulatory bodies, media and development partners. Its work has a strategic emphasis and the organization has been intensely involved in the community media sector with the Government, the Bangladesh Telecommunication Regulatory Commission and other strategic bodies. Its outreach extends to local, national and international forums for communicating knowledge for development. The strategy of the Network is to communicate in the public sphere.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The Network aims to provide quick and low-cost access to global communication to people in rural areas so they can stay up to date. It organizes strategically important activities, studies and advocacy, so that populations in remote areas can have manageable communication facilities.

Significant changes in the organization

At present, 14 community radio stations are on air in the country, aiming to ensure empowerment and the right to information for the rural community. Altogether, they are broadcasting 1.5 hours of programming each day. Approximately 1,000 women and youth are working throughout the country as rural broadcasters. Community radio promotes dialogue between local elected representatives, the Government and NGO professionals to promote good governance. Community radio is also able to play an active role in disaster risk reduction.

7. Brazilian Foundation of America

Special, 2006

Introduction

The Brazilian Foundation of America was established in New York and has two primary goals: to provide benefits to Brazilian communities in the United States of America and abroad and to assist other non-profit organizations in the United States, Brazil and other countries to set up projects to aid children. The organization promotes and helps further selected charitable activities through financial assistance to various individuals, institutions and organizations to aid, encourage, stimulate, foster and promote education, sports and artistic and cultural activities.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The Foundation supports initiatives in the United States, Brazil and other parts of the world where it is invited to contribute. All its programmes and projects support the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals. It helps educational NGOs, institutions, the private sector and individuals to establish partnerships. In time, those partnerships generate enough financial support to place the projects in practice. It implements self-sustaining programmes in the form of cooperatives or associations and shares those programmes with other organizations that want to replicate them in their communities.

Significant changes in the organization

There have been no significant changes.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

The Foundation has been utilizing the knowledge gained from all United Nations meetings and conferences to continue with its missions and goals.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

The Foundation was invited to assist the Co-Chair of United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development in 2012.

8. Buddhist Tzu Chi Foundation

Special, 2010

Introduction

The Buddhist Tzu Chi Foundation, an international NGO, has provided humanitarian relief to 87 countries. The core concept of Tzu Chi volunteers is “selfless giving” which benefits both the giver and the receiver of aid. When volunteers help to alleviate the suffering of others, they experience the joy of giving, eventually changing their attitude. Tzu Chi aims to eliminate inequality and achieve harmony in society, in the hope that the world can be at peace, free from disasters.

Aims and purposes of the organization

Through the missions of charity, medicine, education, humanitarian culture, international relief, bone marrow donation, environmental protection and community volunteerism, Tzu Chi provides humanitarian services to all, regardless of ethnicity, nationality or religion.

Significant changes in the organization

Between 2010 and 2013, Tzu Chi aid reached an additional 22 countries, mobilizing over 1 million volunteers to participate in relief efforts.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

From 2010 to 2013, representatives attended, hosted exhibits and organized parallel events at the following meetings:

- Sixty-third and sixty-fourth annual conferences of the Department of Public Information/NGOs, 2010 and 2011
- Fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-seventh and fifty-eighth sessions of the Commission on the Status of Women, 2011, 2012, 2013 and 2014, respectively, in New York
- United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development, 20-22 June, 2012

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

Since 2007, in partnership with UNHCR, Tzu Chi has been implementing an ongoing education programme for children of refugees in Malaysia.

9. Canadian Federation of University Women

Special, 1998

Introduction

The Canadian Federation of University Women is a non-partisan, voluntary, self-funded organization with over 8,000 members in more than 100 clubs across Canada. Since its founding in 1919, the Federation has been working to improve the status of women and to promote human rights, public education, social justice and peace. It also administers nearly $1 million annually in scholarships, fellowships and awards to support women in their pursuit of post-secondary education. It is the largest affiliate of the International Federation of University Women.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The aims of the Federation are to:

- (a) Promote high standards of public education in Canada, advanced study and research by women and a sound concept of lifelong learning;
- (b) Advocate for the advancement of the status of women, human rights and the common good locally, nationally and internationally;
- (c) Promote cooperation, networking, support and understanding among women;
- (d) Encourage and enable women to apply their knowledge and skills in leadership and decision-making in all aspects of the political, social, cultural, educational and scientific fields.

Significant changes in the organization

In 2012 the Federation adopted new articles and by-laws in accordance with the Canada Not for Profit Corporations Act S.C. 2009, c.23, which governs the organization, its management and operations.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

Representatives of the Federation participated in the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh sessions of the Commission on the Status of Women in 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2013, respectively, in New York. Representatives organized parallel events at the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh sessions, including on the themes of “Gendering the United Nations Convention Against Torture”; “Women’s right to freedom from the violence of prostitution and to universal primary education by 2020: in peril for Afghan girls”. At the fifty-sixth session of the Commission, the Federation also submitted a written statement and made an oral statement during the general discussion.

The Federation submitted a shadow report for the second universal periodic review of Canada and representatives attended a meeting of the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review on 26 April 2013 in Geneva.

The Federation also submitted a shadow report for the sixth periodic report of Canada on the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading

Treatment or Punishment and attended the forty-eighth session of the Committee against Torture on 21 and 22 May 2012 in Geneva.

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals

The activities of the Federation support the overall development agenda through advocacy and outreach. The Federation partnered with CARE Canada to raise funds for their maternal health initiatives.

Contribution of the organization to the work of the United Nations

The Federation monitors the implementation by Canada of a number of United Nations conventions, resolutions and agreements, including the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, the Convention on the Rights of the Child, the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, Security Council resolutions on women, peace and security, the Beijing Platform for Action and the Programme of Action agreed at the International Conference on Population and Development. Where Canada has failed to fully implement conventions, resolutions and agreements, the Federation has pressed for further action from the Government.

During the reporting period, the Federation has continued its active participation in the sectoral committee on education at the Canadian Commission for UNESCO.

Annually, the Federation observes and raises awareness of United Nations international designated days, namely the International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women, Human Rights Day, International Women's Day, International Day of the Girl Child, International Day of Older Persons and the International Day of Persons with Disabilities.

Other issues that have been the focus of the work of the federation during the reporting period include access to education; unpaid care work; violence against women and girls; human trafficking; women's economic security and poverty; housing and homelessness; pay equity; financial literacy; statistics disaggregated by gender; gun control; women and girls' rights in Afghanistan; rights of persons with disabilities; access to medicines; and environmental sustainability and climate change.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies

No cooperation was specified.

10. Canadian HIV/AIDS Legal Network

Special, 2002

Introduction

The Canadian HIV/AIDS Legal Network is a not-for-profit corporation with charitable registration, which defends and promotes the health and other human rights of people living with HIV and those communities particularly affected by HIV, in Canada and internationally (including Eurasia and sub-Saharan Africa), in collaboration with a wide range of partners.

Aims and purposes of the organization

The Network promotes the human rights of people living with and vulnerable to HIV and AIDS, in Canada and internationally, through research and analysis, advocacy and litigation, public education and community mobilization. Its vision is of a world in which the human rights and dignity of people living with HIV/AIDS and those affected by them are respected and fulfilled and where laws and policies facilitate HIV prevention efforts, as well as care, treatment and support for people living with HIV/AIDS.

Significant changes in the organization

In 2012, Canada cut by two thirds the funding received by the organization under the federal AIDS strategy, significantly affecting the overall budget, staffing and work capacity of the organization, leading to the discontinuation of multilingual, global resources on HIV and human rights. In 2014, the organization was issued a certificate of continuance continuing its legal status under the new federal law on not-for-profit corporations and also adopted a new set of by-laws consistent with the new law. In 2014, the organization signed a memorandum of understanding regarding collaboration with the International Community of Women Living with HIV/AIDS for joint programmatic work in defending and advancing the human rights of women living with HIV/AIDS.

Participation in meetings of the United Nations

The Network participated as follows:

- Submitted numerous joint written and oral statements to various United Nations meetings, including the fifty-fourth session of the Commission on the Status of Women, 1-12 March 2010 in New York and the fourteenth, sixteenth and nineteenth sessions of the Human Rights Council in 2010, 2011 and 2012, respectively. It also participated in the seventh session of the Human Rights Council Advisory Committee from 8-12 August 2011
- Submitted reports to the Working Group on the Universal Periodic Review regarding Armenia, Canada, Georgia, Malawi, Kazakhstan, the Russian Federation, Thailand, Ukraine and the United Republic of Tanzania
- Submitted a report to the Committee on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights regarding Kazakhstan, Ukraine and Uzbekistan
- Submitted a report to the Committee against Torture regarding the Russian Federation
- Participated in the fifty-fourth session of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs and related side events in 2011 in Vienna

Initiatives taken by the organization in support of the Millennium Development Goals
