Assessment of the work of the Security Council during the presidency of China (July 2001)

Introduction

Under the presidency of Ambassador Wang Yingfan, Permanent Representative of China, the Security Council addressed a number of important issues in July, including Sierra Leone, the Central African Republic, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Burundi, Somalia, Guinea-Bissau, Afghanistan, East Timor, Georgia, Lebanon and Kosovo (Federal Republic of Yugoslavia). Thanks to the cooperation of members of the Council and the support of the Secretariat, the work of the Council in July was organized in a practical and orderly manner, with due priority given to some prominent issues without neglecting other questions on the Council's agenda.

During the month, the Council held eight public meetings and 12 consultations of the whole. Meetings with countries contributing troops to UNMOP, UNIFIL and UNOMIG were also held. The Council adopted six resolutions and two presidential statements. Upon request and with the concurrence of Council members, the President made nine statements to the press after informal consultations on various issues (see appendix). Immediately after informal consultations, the Presidency briefed Member States not members of the Council. Through its web site (www.china-un.org), the presidency published, on a regular basis and in a timely fashion, the provisional programme of work of the Council as well as activities carried out by the Council in July.

Burundi within the framework of the Arusha Agreement on Peace and Reconciliation. Members of the Council expressed their appreciation of the efforts of the facilitator, and welcomed the proposed arrangements for the transitional government in Burundi. The President made a statement to the press after the consultations.

Democratic Republic of the Congo

On 18 July, members of the Council heard a briefing by the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for the Democratic Republic of the Congo, Kamel Morjane. He expressed cautious optimism about the general situation in the country, indicating that the peace process was still fragile and the point of no return to war had not been reached. He informed the Council members that, in the eastern part of the country, hostile activities of armed groups still constituted a major threat to the peace process. He stressed the importance of early implementation of the process of disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration of the armed groups and complete withdrawal of all foreign forces from the territory of the Democratic Republic of the Congo. He also informed the Council members that MONUC had been enjoying good cooperation from the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo. The Council members shared his assessment of the situation and stressed the need to follow the situation closely so as to further the peace process in areas such as disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration, cessation of assistance to the armed groups, withdrawal of foreign forces and the demilitarization of Kisangani.

On 24 July, the Council held a formal meeting on the situation in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, at which the Secretary-General and his Special Representative were present. The Secretary-General stressed that two major issues were of particular importance to the peace process and must be addressed in urgency, one being the progress to be made in the inter-Congolese dialogue, the other an early implementation of the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration process by all armed groups. He hoped that the Council would undertake more efforts towards realization of peace in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. The Special Representative underlined the importance of carrying forward the efforts in the disarmament, demobilization, repatriation, resettlement and reintegration process, the withdrawal of all foreign forces, and the complete demilitarization of Kisangani. He also stressed the need to support the efforts of the facilitator, Sir Ketumile Masire, in bringing about the inter-Congolese dialogue, and to help the country to achieve economic recovery and reconstruction. The Council adopted a presidential statement (S/PRST/2001/19), expressing satisfaction at the progress made so far in the peace process in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, calling upon all the parties to the conflict to fulfil their commitments and to implement fully the Lusaka Ceasefire Agreement and all the relevant Security Council resolutions. The Council also commended the Special Representative of the Secretary-General for his outstanding work and invaluable contribution to the peace process in the Democratic Republic of the Congo.

Council members underlined the importance of rigorous implementation of the measures contained in the resolution by all States, as the resolution requires.

Council members emphasized that the certification scheme in Sierra Leone is an essential step in curbing the flow of illicit diamonds out of Sierra Leone. They welcomed the fact that reports indicate the certification scheme is having a positive effect. This was clear from the fact that there has been an increase in the quantity of diamonds passing through the Government's hands. Council members welcomed the establishment of a certification scheme in Guinea and supported the continuing efforts of ECOWAS and West African countries to develop a region-wide certification regime. Council members stressed the responsibility of diamond-importing and exporting countries for fully implementing resolution 1306 (2000), and reiterated the importance of breaking the link between sales of conflict diamonds and the purchase of weapons.

Council members noted that the peace process in Sierra Leone was about to enter a crucial phase as UNAMSIL and the Government began to move into the diamond-producing areas. They looked forward to receiving further information from the Government of Sierra Leone, including plans for managing the diamond fields. Democratic Republic of the Congo (6 July)

Members of the Security Council are concerned at recent information, according to which the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo still maintains positions beyond the disengagement line, FLC has not yet fulfilled its commitment to withdraw its forces to the agreed positions by 1 June 2001, and RCD-Goma has failed to disengage Kisangani and has obstructed the operations of MONUC.

Council members therefore called on all forces to withdraw to the agreed positions as a matter of urgency. Council members expressed the hope that this issue can be addressed through the institutions established by the Lusaka Ceasefire Agreement, and that all the parties to the Lusaka Agreement will honour the commitments they have made to each other and the international community.

Council members expressed concern at the threat to the peace process posed by the activities of armed groups such as the ex-FAR/Interahamwe, FDD and FNL, and reminded all parties, including the Government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, that under Security Council resolution 1355 (2001) and other resolutions they should cease immediately all support to such groups.

Council members, in this respect, call on all parties to demonstrate full commitment to the disarmament, demobilization and reintegration, disengagement and withdrawal processes by ending all forms of support to the armed groups, by providing full information to MONUC, and by resolving any discrepancies between actual positions and those set out in the agreed disengagement plans.

Council members strongly urged the Intergovernmental Authority on Development countries, neighbouring countries of Somalia in particular, and other interested countries to coordinate their efforts in supporting the peace process.

Council members reiterated their call on neighbouring States to refrain from any action detrimental to the peace process, including political dialogue and national reconciliation. They underlined the importance of full implementation of the arms embargo on Somalia imposed by resolution 733 (1992).

Council members urged the international community to mobilize support for the vulnerable population in Somalia, including by making contributions to the United Nations consolidated appeal for Somalia for 2001.

Members of the Council again strongly urged the armed groups to suspend hostilities. They also called on all States in the region to cease any military support to the armed groups and to use their influence on them according to the provisions of Security Council resolution 1355 (2001), paragraph 11.

The Council members expressed concern about the deterioration of the humanitarian situation, appealed to the international community to continue to make generous contributions, and emphasized the need to ensure the security and safety of the humanitarian personnel and the smooth operation of the humanitarian activities.

The Council members expressed their intention to review this matter regularly. Further work will be done within the Council and the Secretariat on a comprehensive strategy.
