Summary

At its fifty-second regular session, held on 15 February 2013 and from 11 to 21 February 2014, which was the policy year of the two-year review and policy cycle, the Commission for Social Development considered the priority theme, “Promoting empowerment of people in achieving poverty eradication, social integration and full employment and decent work for all”. The Commission also reviewed relevant United Nations plans and programmes of action pertaining to the situation of social groups and the social dimensions of the New Partnership for Africa’s Development.

The opening of the Commission was addressed by, inter alia, the Vice President of the Economic and Social Council and the Under-Secretary-General for Economic and Social Affairs. During its eight-day session, in addition to its general discussions, the Commission convened three high-level panel discussions: one on the priority theme; one on the emerging issue of social drivers of sustainable development; and one in observance of the twentieth anniversary of the International Year of the Family.

The Chair’s summaries of the panel discussions can be accessed on the website of the Commission (<http://undesadspd.org/CommissionforSocialDevelopment/Sessions/2014.aspx>). As a contribution of the Commission to the 2014 annual ministerial review of the Economic and Social Council, the Chair will send a letter to the President of the Council containing a summary of the deliberations of the fifty-second session of the Commission relevant to the theme of the review.

In connection with its review of the relevant United Nations plans and programmes of action pertaining to the situation of social groups, the Special Rapporteur on disability presented his report to the Commission.

The high-level panel discussion and the general debate of the Commission on the priority theme highlighted the critical importance of empowerment in accelerating the implementation of the Millennium Development Goals and ensuring that the post-2015 development agenda will be people-centred. To that end, it was stressed that synergies must be created between empowerment policies and the ongoing work on strengthening the social pillar of sustainable development as articulated in the outcome document of the United Nations Conference on Sustainable Development and in the elaboration of the post-2015 development agenda. Social, economic and environmental aspects of development need to be further integrated at all levels.

It was noted that Governments could adopt an empowering approach to policymaking and policy implementation by establishing and strengthening participatory mechanisms and institutions while investing in social services to improve the capabilities of individuals and communities. Transparency and accountability, good governance and civic engagement were highlighted as core elements of this approach. Effective social protection, access to quality education and decent work for all were underlined as proven strategies for people’s empowerment. Member States shared good practices and successful policy measures at the national and regional levels. As the policy outcome of the two-year cycle, the Commission adopted a resolution on the priority theme.

The panel discussion on the emerging issue of social drivers of sustainable development emphasized the importance of looking at sustainable development through a social lens. This was seen as essential to formulating an integrated and inclusive post-2015 development framework. It was noted that a focus on social drivers enables policymakers to understand social factors that drive or sustain development outcomes. Broadening the scope of social policy and initiatives would allow multidimensional challenges such as climate change, water and food security, energy, land use and natural or man-made disasters to be tackled, and more effective, durable, equitable and just solutions to be found. Focusing on social structures, institutions, behaviour and agency in formulating policies to promote sustainable development would enhance the transformative nature of policies and address social complexity as well as contextual diversity.

The Commission also held general discussions on issues related to social groups. The need for increased and effective participation by youth in decision-making processes at all levels, including in the post-2015 processes, was highlighted. The Commission discussed youth employment challenges, especially mismatches between young people's qualifications and the skills required for the labour market, and Member States shared a number of initiatives in tackling those challenges. Increased focus on youth in the works of the United Nations system was emphasized and the Five-Year Action Agenda of the Secretary-General was welcomed in that regard.

Various policy initiatives for older persons were discussed and the need to promote and protect their rights was noted. Among the issues highlighted were age-based discrimination, active ageing, awareness-raising to move away from a medical/welfare approach to a rights-based one, and the need to advance discussions of an international legally binding instrument. It was pointed out that the post-2015 development agenda could offer possibilities to address the issue of ageing at the core of the global development agenda.

A high-level panel discussion was held in observance of the twentieth anniversary of the International Year of the Family. The important role families play in development was affirmed, and it was proposed to include a family focus in the post-2015 development agenda and discuss "family and development" in the Economic and Social Council. It was stressed that issues related to family, such as family poverty, children's well-being and social protection, reconciling of work and family life, gender equality and intergenerational solidarity issues, remained major concerns for many countries. The need for further research on family-related issues, effective family policy development and evaluation and greater recognition of family diversity was highlighted.

The Commission adopted six draft resolutions and two draft decisions which are recommended for adoption by the Economic and Social Council. The Commission also adopted one resolution and one decision which are brought to the attention of the Council.

In the draft resolution on the priority theme, "Promoting empowerment of people in achieving poverty eradication, social integration and full employment and decent work for all", the Council would request the Secretary-General to include, in his report entitled "Implementation of the outcome of the World Summit for Social Development and of the twenty-fourth special session of the General Assembly", to be submitted to the General Assembly at its sixty-ninth session, policy recommendations on the empowerment of people, taking into account the discussions held at the fifty-second session of the Commission for Social Development under the priority theme.

Under the resolution on the social dimensions of the New Partnership for Africa's Development, the Council would decide that the Commission should continue to give prominence to and raise awareness of the social dimensions of the New Partnership at its fifty-third session.

In the draft resolution on further implementation of the Madrid International Plan of Action on Ageing, the Council would request the Secretary-General to seek the views of Member States and other relevant stakeholders on: (a) a possible theme or themes for the third review and appraisal of the Madrid Plan of Action, to be held in 2017; (b) how the review and appraisal process could better contribute to advancing the social integration and broad-based participation of older persons in development; and (c) how the mainstreaming of issues of ageing and older persons into the work of the functional commissions of the Economic and Social Council could be achieved.

In the draft resolution on observance of the twentieth anniversary of the International Year of the Family and beyond, the Council would urge Member States to give due consideration to advancing family policy development in the elaboration of the post-2015 development agenda.

In the draft resolution on promoting the rights of persons with disabilities and mainstreaming disability in the post-2015 development agenda, the Council would request the Special Rapporteur to promote the implementation of the outcome of the high-level meeting of the General Assembly on the realization of the Millennium Development Goals and other internationally agreed development goals for persons with disabilities and the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, and to further contribute to the development of a disability-inclusive, equitable and sustainable post-2015 development framework. Noting the expiry of the mandate of the Special Rapporteur on disability on 31 December 2014, the Council would consider the possibility, at its fifty-third session, of another monitoring mechanism, with a view to strengthening the mainstreaming of disability in social development.

In the draft resolution on the future organization and methods of work of the Commission for Social Development, the Council, having considered General Assembly resolution 68/1 on the strengthening of the Economic and Social Council, would decide to have the Commission report on social aspects related to the agreed main theme of the Council in order to contribute to its work. It would also decide that the Commission should utilize its agenda item on emerging issues to promote consideration of relevant issues on the agenda of the Council, in particular the annual main theme of the Council and the integration segment. In addition, the Council would decide to maintain the two-year review and policy cycle for the 2015 and 2016 sessions, with the priority theme of "Rethinking and strengthening social development in the contemporary world", and to have the Commission keep its methods of work under review in order to adjust, as appropriate, to the work and cycle of the Council. The Council would further decide to consider the biennialization of the Commission's resolutions in order to eliminate duplication and overlap in the consideration of related issues between the Council and the General Assembly.

In its resolution on visual health as a tool for the achievement of the empowerment of people, the Commission, recalling General Assembly resolutions related to global health and foreign policy, as well as the resolution of the World Health Assembly entitled “Towards universal eye health: a global action plan 2014-2019”, acknowledges the importance of visual health for the empowerment of people and the eradication of poverty, and highlights the need for enhancing eye health for all. The Commission requests the Secretary-General to transmit the content of the resolution to the Director-General of the World Health Organization.

January 2013, and taking note of the African Common Position on the Human Rights of Older Persons in Africa,

Noting with appreciation the Programme for Infrastructure Development in Africa adopted by the African Union, which calls for the creation of an enabling environment for adequate investments and the adoption of the sector reforms needed to produce the expected results aimed at promoting the economic and social development and reducing poverty in the continent through the implementation of integrated regional infrastructure networks,

Expressing concern that attainment of the social development objectives may be hindered by the ongoing adverse impacts of the world financial and economic crisis, volatile energy and food prices and challenges posed by climate change,

Stressing that addressing Africa's special development needs should be given due attention in the elaboration of the post-2015 development agenda,

Noting that Africa is abundantly endowed with natural resources, including many industrial minerals and agricultural resources that are exported mainly in primary form, and that the exploitation of the natural resources sector in Africa has for many years attracted foreign direct investment in capital-intensive enclave sectors, that has the potential, when paired with appropriate policies, including employment intensive policies, to spur structural transformation, create employment, contribute to poverty eradication and reduce inequality,

Emphasizing that the African Union and the regional economic communities have a critical role to play in the implementation of the New Partnership, and in this regard encouraging African countries, with the assistance of their development partners, to increase and coordinate effectively their support for enhancing the capacities of these institutions and to promote regional cooperation and social and economic integration in Africa,

Recognizing further that investments in people, especially their social protection, health and education, are essential to enhancing agricultural productivity and performance, and thereby key to growth and poverty reduction, through increasing decent job creation and employability opportunities, especially for women and youth, improving food security and nutrition and building resilience,

Noting with appreciation that the Heavily Indebted Poor Countries Initiative, the Multilateral Debt Relief Initiative and bilateral donors have provided substantial debt relief to 35 countries that have reached the completion point under the Heavily Indebted Poor Countries Initiative, which has considerably reduced their debt vulnerability and enabled them to increase their investments in social services,

Bearing in mind that African countries have primary responsibility for their own economic and social development, that the role of national policies and development strategies cannot be overemphasized and that the development efforts of such countries need to be supported by an enabling international economic environment, and in this regard recalling the support given by the International Conference on Financing for Development to the New Partnership,<sup>10</sup>

1. Takes note of the report of the Secretary-General;<sup>11</sup>

2. Welcomes the progress made by African countries in fulfilling their commitments in the implementation of the New Partnership for Africa's Development<sup>9</sup> to deepen democracy, human rights, good governance and sound economic management, and encourages African countries, with the participation of stakeholders, including civil society and the private sector, to intensify their efforts in this regard by developing and strengthening institutions for governance and creating an environment conducive to attracting foreign direct investment for the development of the region;

3. Also welcomes the good progress that has been made in implementing the African Peer Review Mechanism, as reflected in particular by the number of countries that have signed up to participate in the Mechanism, the completion of the peer review process in some countries, the progress in implementing the recommendations of those reviews in those countries and the completion of the annual progress reports and self-assessment processes, the hosting of country support missions and the launching of national preparatory processes for the peer review in others, and urges African States that have not yet done so to join the Mechanism as a matter of priority and to strengthen the peer review process so as to ensure its efficient performance;

4. Takes note of the development of Agenda 2063 as the African Union long-term strategy emphasizing industrialization, youth employment, improved natural resource governance and the reduction of inequalities,<sup>12</sup> and welcomes the decision on the organization of an Extraordinary Summit of Heads of State and Governments of the African Union to assess the progress in implementation of the 2004 Ouagadougou Declaration and Plan of Action on Employment and Poverty Alleviation to be organized by the African Union in September 2014;<sup>13</sup>

5. Recognizes the valuable efforts made by the Steering Committee of the New Partnership in the implementation of the Programme for Infrastructure Development in Africa, particularly through the mechanism of the Presidential Infrastructure Champion Initiative, under which impressive progress has been recorded in the conception of many critical infrastructure projects on the continent;

7. Also stresses the importance of taking measures to promote the dynamic diversification of African economies through transforming African economies from resource dependence, increasing local processing of and value addition to natural resources in order to expand the domestic economy and increase revenue, and developing new industries in order to transform lives and create opportunities for more and better jobs;

8. Welcomes the efforts made by African countries and regional and subregional organizations, including the African Union, to mainstream a gender perspective and the empowerment of women and girls in the implementation of the New Partnership, including the implementation of the Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights on the Rights of Women in Africa;

9. Stresses the importance of improving maternal and child health, and in this regard welcomes the declaration of the African Union summit on maternal, infant and child health and development, held in Kampala from 19 to 27 July 2010, and acknowledges the Campaign on Accelerated Reduction of Maternal Mortality in Africa;

10. Emphasizes that progress in the implementation of the New Partnership depends also on a favourable national and international environment for Africa's growth and development, including measures to promote a policy environment conducive to private sector development and entrepreneurship and to the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals;

11. Also emphasizes that democracy, respect for all human rights and fundamental freedoms, including the right to development, transparent and accountable governance and administration in all sectors of society and effective participation by civil society, including non-governmental and community-based organizations, and the private sector are among the indispensable foundations for the realization of social and people-centred sustainable development;

12. Emphasizes that the increasingly unacceptable high levels of poverty, inequality and social exclusion faced by most African countries require a comprehensive approach to the development and implementation of social and economic policies, inter alia, to reduce poverty, to promote economic activity, growth and sustainable development in order to ensure employment creation and decent work for all, to promote education, health and social protection and to enhance equality, social inclusion, political stability, democracy and good governance at all levels and the promotion and protection of human rights and fundamental freedoms;

13. Also emphasizes that identifying and removing barriers to opportunity, as well as ensuring access to basic social protection and social services, are necessary to break the cycle of poverty, inequality and social exclusion;

14. Encourages African countries to continue to prioritize structural transformation, modernize smallholder agriculture, add value to primary commodities, improve public and private institutions of economic and political governance and invest in major public infrastructure projects and in education and health in order to promote inclusive growth, generate full and productive employment and decent work for all and reduce poverty;

15. Emphasizes that economic development, including employment-intensive resource-based industrial development, infrastructural development and structural transformation, in particular in the rural economy, based on pragmatic and targeted policies to enhance productive capacities in Africa that are consistent with national development priorities and international commitments, can generate employment and income for all African men and women, including the poor, and therefore be an engine for poverty eradication and for achieving internationally agreed development goals, including the Millennium Development Goals;

16. Underlines the fact that the fulfilment of all official development assistance commitments is crucial, including the commitments by many developed countries to achieve the target of allocating 0.7 per cent of their gross national product for official development assistance to developing countries by 2015 and the target of allocating between 0.15 and 0.20 per cent of their gross national product for official development assistance to the least developed countries, and urges developed countries that have not yet done so to fulfil their commitments for official development assistance to developing countries;

17. Stresses the essential role that official development assistance plays in complementing, leveraging and sustaining financing for development efforts in developing countries and in facilitating the achievement of development objectives, including the internationally agreed development goals, in particular the Millennium Development Goals, and welcomes steps to improve the effectiveness and quality of aid based on the fundamental principles of national ownership, alignment, harmonization, managing for results, inclusive development partnerships and transparency and mutual accountability;

18. Recognizes that, while social development is primarily the responsibility of Governments, international cooperation and assistance are essential for the full achievement of that goal;

19. Also recognizes the contribution made by Member States to the implementation of the New Partnership in the context of South-South cooperation, and encourages the international community, including the international financial institutions, to support the efforts of African countries, including through trilateral cooperation;

20. Welcomes the various important initiatives undertaken by Africa's development partners in recent years, and in this regard emphasizes the importance of coordination in such initiatives on Africa through ensuring the effective implementation of existing commitments, including through the African Union/New Partnership for Africa's Development African Action Plan 2010-2015: Advancing Regional and Continental Integration in Africa, which remains at the centre of the continent's engagement with partners;

21. Encourages African countries to intensify their efforts to strengthen national statistical capacity in order to produce reliable and timely statistics and indicators for the monitoring of national development policies and strategies and the implementation of commitments and the achievement of all development goals at the national, regional and international levels, and in this regard urges donor countries and organizations and the international and regional statistical communities to support African countries in strengthening statistical capacity in support of development;

22. Urges continuous support for measures to address the challenges of poverty eradication and sustainable development in Africa, with special emphasis on the Millennium Development Goals related to poverty and hunger, health, education, the empowerment of women and gender equality, including, as appropriate, debt relief, improved market access, support for the private sector and entrepreneurship, enhanced official development assistance, increased foreign direct investment and transfer of technology on mutually agreed terms, reduced cost of sending remittances through official channels, the empowerment of women in all aspects, including economic and political aspects, the promotion of social protection systems and the conclusion of the Doha round of negotiations of the World Trade Organization;

23. Underlines the importance for African Governments to build the productive capacity of agriculture, as a top priority, in order to increase rural incomes and ensure access to food for net food buyers, and stresses that greater efforts should be made to promote and implement sustainable agriculture, increase access for smallholder farmers, in particular women, to necessary agricultural resources, including productive assets, and improve access to infrastructure, information and markets, and that, furthermore, efforts should be made to promote small and medium-sized enterprises that contribute to job growth and increase incomes along the agricultural value stream;

24. Urges Governments, within the framework of the Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme, to expand investment financing to agriculture to at least 10 per cent of the annual budget of the national public sector while at the same time ensuring necessary action in policy and institutional reforms for enhanced performance of the agriculture industry and systems;

25. Takes note of the decision taken by the Assembly of Heads of State and Government of the African Union at its nineteenth ordinary session, held in Addis Ababa on 15 and 16 July 2012, to proclaim 2014 the Year of Agriculture and Food Security in Africa to mark the tenth anniversary of the adoption of the Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme;

26. Recognizes the need for Africa's development partners that are supporting agriculture and food security in Africa to align their efforts more specifically towards supporting the Comprehensive Africa Agriculture Development Programme, using the Programme's investment plans for alignment of external funding, and in this regard takes note of the Declaration of the World Summit on Food Security;<sup>14</sup>

27. Recognizes that the implementation of the commitments made by Governments during the First United Nations Decade for the Eradication of Poverty (1997-2006) has fallen short of expectations, and welcomes the proclamation of the Second Decade (2008-2017) by the General Assembly in its resolution 62/205 of 19 December 2007 in order to support, in an efficient and coordinated manner, the internationally agreed development goals related to poverty eradication, including the Millennium Development Goals;

28. Urges African countries to pay close attention to inclusive, equitable and sustainable growth capable of being employment-intensive, including through employment-intensive investment programmes, which should be aimed at reducing inequalities, increasing employment and improving real per capita incomes in both rural and urban areas;

29. Emphasizes the need, in particular for African countries, to enhance capacity-building for sustainable development, and in this regard calls for the strengthening of technical and scientific cooperation, including North-South, South-South and triangular cooperation, and reiterates the importance of human resources development, including through training, the exchange of experience and expertise, knowledge transfer and technical assistance for capacity-building, which involves strengthening institutional capacity, including planning, management and monitoring capacities;

Recognizing that, in many parts of the world, awareness of the Madrid Plan of Action remains limited or non-existent, which limits the scope of implementation efforts,

Bearing in mind that the second review and appraisal highlighted several major challenges faced by older persons in most regions that undermined the social, economic and cultural participation of the aged, namely, income security, access to age-appropriate health-care services, access to labour markets and social protection, protection from abuse and violence, and age discrimination,

Affirming the importance of national capacity-building as a prerequisite for successful implementation of the Madrid Plan of Action and an important component in promoting and protecting the enjoyment of all human rights by older persons,

Stressing the need to continue international cooperation, including through technical assistance for countries, aimed at strengthening the promotion and protection of the rights of older persons, including the development of relevant national strategies, according to national development plans,

7. Encourages Member States to promote social integration and the realization of all human rights for older persons and to prevent age discrimination;

8. Calls upon Member States to adopt appropriate measures, including, if necessary, legislative measures at the national level to promote and protect the enjoyment of all human rights by older persons and to promote their full social, economic, cultural and political participation;

11. Further encourages Member States to establish or strengthen strategic approaches and policy options in relation to the physical and mental health of older persons, in the light of new and emerging disease patterns, notably non-communicable diseases, and increased life expectancy, with particular attention to addressing health needs across a care continuum, including prevention, detection and diagnosis, management and rehabilitation, treatment and palliative care, with the aim of achieving comprehensive health-care coverage for older persons;

17. Invites Member States to establish and/or strengthen partnerships with civil society organizations and organizations of older persons in order to improve their national capacity for policy formulation, implementation and monitoring in the area of ageing;

C. Resolution and decision brought to the attention of the Council

3. The following resolution and decision adopted by the Commission are brought to the attention of the Council:

Resolution 52/1

Visual health as a tool for achievement of the empowerment of people***

The Commission for Social Development,

Recalling General Assembly resolution 68/98 and other previous resolutions related to global health and foreign policy,

Reaffirming the right of every human being to the enjoyment of the highest attainable standard of physical and mental health, without discrimination as to race, religion, political belief, economic or social condition, and the right of everyone to a standard of living adequate for the health and well-being of oneself and one's family,

Mindful that the World Health Organization estimates that 285 million people worldwide live with visual impairment and that the two main causes of visual impairment are uncorrected refractive errors and cataracts, and that such impairments are more frequent among older persons and poorer segments of the population,

Recalling resolution 66.4 of the World Health Assembly, entitled "Towards universal eye health: a global action plan 2014-2019", in which the Assembly states that 80 per cent of all visual impairment can be prevented or cured and that about 90 per cent of the world's visually impaired live in developing countries, as well as other World Health Assembly resolutions that acknowledge the links between poverty and blindness, and that blindness places a heavy economic burden on families, communities and countries, particularly developing countries,

Recognizing that poverty can affect vulnerable people living with visual impairments and increase their likelihood of not having access to basic health, education and social services and thereby make them more vulnerable to isolation, ill health and economic problems,

Stressing the importance of the global action plan 2014-2019 on universal eye health, endorsed by the World Health Assembly in its resolution 66.4, which encourages the development and implementation of integrated national eye health policies, plans and programmes to enhance universal eye health and promotes effective partnerships to strengthen eye health, respecting the interrelated principles of universal access and equity, human rights, evidence-based practice, a life course approach and empowerment of people with visual impairment,

1. Recognizes that people affected by vision impairments should be able to participate fully in the social, economic, political and cultural aspects of society;

* For the discussion see chap. III, paras. 48-51.

2. Recognizes the leading role of the World Health Organization as the primary specialized agency for health, including its role and functions with regard to health policy in accordance with its mandate;

3. Encourages Governments to develop and to strengthen eye-care services and to integrate them into the existing health-care system at all levels, in order to promote the best possible vision for all people, thereby contributing to improving quality of life and favourable economic, social and health conditions for individuals and society;

4. Welcomes the World Intellectual Property Organization Marrakesh Treaty to Facilitate Access to Published Works For Persons Who Are Blind, Visually Impaired or Otherwise Print Disabled, signed in Morocco on 27 June 2013, the first international treaty to focus on copyright exceptions to facilitate the creation of accessible versions of books and other copyrighted works, recognizing its potential to promote the empowerment of and access to education by visually impaired persons, and encourages Member States to consider its ratification;

5. Acknowledges that visual health contributes significantly to the quality of life and empowerment of all members of society, including women, children, older persons, persons with disabilities and people living in vulnerable situations, through enhancing their capacities to respond to the challenges posed owing to sight deficiency by enabling them to combat poverty in relation to the opportunities of decent work, social inclusion and poverty eradication;

6. Encourages Governments to develop and to strengthen partnerships between the public sector, non-governmental organizations, the private sector, civil society and community programmes and activities oriented at providing comprehensive eye-care services to all people, with the aim also to promote social inclusion;

7. Encourages States and other relevant stakeholders to strengthen their collaboration and partnership towards the implementation of the global action plan 2014-2019 on universal eye health, taking into account the linkages between visual health and empowerment and participation for social inclusion;

8. Takes note of the discussions regarding social drivers for sustainable development as the emerging issue of 2014, and recognizes the relevance of visual health in this regard;

9. Requests the Secretary-General to transmit the content of the present resolution to the Director-General of the World Health Organization.
